

Journal of Global Initiatives: Policy, Pedagogy, Perspective

Volume 4

Number 2 Alliance of Civilizations: Turkey at the Crossroads

Article 13

June 2010

About the Contributors

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.kennesaw.edu/jgi>

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 License.

Recommended Citation

(2010) "About the Contributors," Journal of Global Initiatives: Policy, Pedagogy, Perspective: Vol. 4 : No. 2 , Article 13.
Available at: <https://digitalcommons.kennesaw.edu/jgi/vol4/iss2/13>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@Kennesaw State University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Journal of Global Initiatives: Policy, Pedagogy, Perspective by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@Kennesaw State University. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@kennesaw.edu.

About the Contributors

Dr. Nilgün Anadolu-Okur is a professor at Temple University. Her books are titled: Women, Islam and Globalization in the 21st Century; Contemporary African American Theater, Afrocentricity in the Works of Larry Neal, Amiri Baraka, and Charles Fuller; Essays Interpreting the Writings of Novelist Orhan Pamuk. She has published refereed articles on African American Theater, Turkish literature, the Underground Railroad and universal women's rights. The recipient of two international Fulbright awards, she has been a Commonwealth Speaker for Pennsylvania Humanities Council.

Hasan Aydin is a Ph.D. candidate, and research assistant, Department of Curriculum, Teaching, and Learning (CTL) at the University of Nevada, Reno. His area of emphasis is in multicultural education. His research interests are in first generation Turkish immigrant cultural assimilation, the Gulen Movement and Gulen-inspired schools in Nigeria.

Gokhan Bacik is an associate professor of international relations at Zirve University. Bacik also taught in different European Universities as Erasmus Visiting Professor. He is the author of September 11 and World Politics (2004), Modern International System: Genealogy, Teleology and the Expansion (2007), and Hybrid Sovereignty in the Arab Middle East (2008). His articles have been published in Middle East Policy, International Review of Sociology, The Muslim World, Arab Studies Quarterly, Peace Review, Turkish Studies, Nationalism and Ethnic Politics, among others.

Lisa DiCarlo is Assistant Professor of Anthropology and Entrepreneurship at Babson College. A former Fulbright Scholar and graduate of Brown University, she has more than 20 years of experience, working, living, and conducting research in Turkey. Her book, Migrating to America, explored social networks and economic strategies leveraged by Turkish migrants to the US. She is currently conducting research on social entrepreneurship venture in Turkey.

Murat Doral obtained a Master of Business Administration in 1990, and a Master of Arts in economics in 1988, both from West Virginia University. He also earned his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Istanbul in 1983. He has taught a variety of classes in economics, finance, and business statistics. Currently, he is a Lecturer of economics at the KSU's Department of Economics, Finance & Quantitative Analysis.

Maia Carter Hallward is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science and International Affairs at Kennesaw State University and serves as Associate Editor for the Journal of Peacebuilding and Development. She worked for four years in the Middle East, including teaching and research positions in Jerusalem, Ramallah, and Amman. Her forthcoming book examines Israeli and Palestinian nonviolent activism in the second Intifada.

Richard Penaskovic is Professor of Religious Studies at Auburn University, Alabama. He has over 100 publications to his credit, including four books. His numerous articles and book reviews have appeared in such journal as The Journal of the American Academy of Religion, The Heythrop Journal (London), Louvain Studies (Belgium), Augustinian Studies, and Theological Studies. His next book, tentatively titled, Gulen on the Alliance of Civilizations, will appear in a series in Istanbul.

Umut Uzer is an assistant professor at University of Maryland University College and a postdoctoral fellow at the Center for Middle Eastern Studies, Harvard University. He received his Ph.D. in Foreign Affairs, from the University of Virginia. His book Identity and Turkish Foreign Policy will be published by I.B. Tauris in December 2010. His other publications have been about Turkish nationalism, Middle East peace process and the Jewish Lobby in American foreign policy.

Juliette Tolay is completing her Ph.D. in political science and international relations at the University of Delaware. Her dissertation looks at immigration into Turkey and Turkish attitudes towards immigration. Currently, Juliette Tolay is a fellow at the Transatlantic Academy, at the German Marshall Fund in Washington D.C., where she conducts research on Turkish foreign policy. She is a graduate from Sciences-Po, Paris and Inalco. She has numerous publications on migration and the Middle East.